

I strongly urge the FCC to find a more creative means of protecting copyrights without asking the average consumer to pay the price or suffer the consequences of limited access.

Sincerely,

Chris Murphy